

Question

---

I have a tape library that allows me to map it into multiple logical libraries. This allows me to have two applications on the same computer using the same physical library. Does your Hiarc HSM support this feature?

Answer

---

Yes. For example, Hiarc HSM can use one of the logical libraries while another program, like a backup program, can use the other logical library.