

Question

I want to have a set of replicated data on site and off site; can Replicator do that?

Answer

Yes, Replicator can replicate data to local disks and can also replicate data to remote or off-site disks. Either way, end users have immediate access to their data with no requirement to know where the data is located.